1. YOU BUTTERNUT STOP ME! Place the butternut chunks in a pot with salted water over medium-high heat. Bring to the boil. Boil covered for 20-25 minutes until cooked through and soft. Drain, if necessary. Add a knob of butter or coconut oil (optional) and a splash of water or milk. Mash with a fork or potato masher until combined and the desired consistency.

2. IN A PICKLE In a bowl, combine the vinegar, 30ml of water, and 15ml of a sweetener of choice. Add the diced onion & cucumber and toss until coated. Set aside to pickle.

3. LIKE YOUR GRANNY'S Place a pan over medium-high heat with a drizzle of oil. When hot, fry the trimmed green beans for 5-6 minutes until cooked al dente, shifting occasionally. In the final minute, add the grated garlic. Remove from the pan and season.

4. THE STEAKS ARE HIGH Return the pan to a medium-high heat with a drizzle of oil. Pat the rump dry with paper towel. When the pan is hot, sear the rump, fat-side down, for 3-5 minutes until crispy. Then, fry for 2-4 minutes per side, or until cooked to your preference (this time frame may depend on the thickness of the rump). During the final 1-2 minutes, baste with a knob of butter (optional) and the rub. Remove from the pan and rest for 5 minutes before slicing. Lightly season the slices.

5. SIMPLE SALAD Drain the pickling liquid from the onion & cucumber. Place the pickled onion & cucumber in a bowl along with the rinsed green leaves, a drizzle of olive oil, and seasoning. Toss until combined.

6. THAT'S ALL FOLKS! Plate up the rump slices and side with the butternut mash, the garlic-y green beans, and the fresh salad. Sprinkle over the chopped parsley. A winner, Chef!
